

Have a Waterwise Stay

Saving water is always in season!

The City Different attracts up to 2 million visitors annually. Santa Fe relies on mountain snowpack for water. Our year to year snowfall is unpredictable and highly variable. Some winters are extremely dry, while other winters receive lots of snow. Which is why saving water is always in season! Water is a finite resource here and we're proud to be a water conscious community. Visitors can also do their part to help conserve this precious resource while they enjoy this beautiful high desert destination. Value water.

Enjoy your waterwise stay while visiting Santa Fe!

City of Santa Fe Water Conservation Office